55 YEARS OF QUALITY AND SERVICE

Years before the first automobile was made we were in the Nursery business, growing our own trees and selling them direct. Today, 55 years later, we have grown to be the oldest and largest catalog nursery in New York State. There is only one answer—the quality of Maloney's stock and Maloney's service has made this possible.

A product is only as good as the character of the producer; service is dependent upon the aims and ideals of the management. Maloney's was founded and for 55 years has been operated with the highest quality and unsurpassed service as the corner-stone of our business.

We know the quality of our nursery stock because we grow it. We do not sell anything else, and we have made the nursery business our lifetime work. We are able to answer all of your questions, landscape your home or tell you where the Japan Quince should be planted on your lawn. Maloney's stand back of their nursery stock and say: "EVERY CUSTOMER MUST BE SATISFIED."

Rather than spend large sums on advertising we utilize this catalog and pass this saving on to you. We sell our own stock grown by our experienced men direct to you, the most economical way of selling first class merchandise yet devised. True, at many places you can secure second grade nursery stock, but if it fails, what recourse have you? You should have Northern Grown Stock because it is hardier and will transplant more readily in the North than other kinds and grow better for you.

All we ask is a trial order—our stock will do the rest.

ROSES • All Field-Grown Bushes

Maloney roses are grown in the fields and budded on the hardiest of rootstocks, all will bloom profusely this year. Our roses are No. 1 Grade Northern grown, Hardy and expertly kept in storage at an even temperature. This means success or failure in rose planting. True there are many little tricks to planting (which we send free with your order), but when you get Maloney's fresh roses, you get the best. Beware of roses with roots and tops parched and heated, unearled for, stacked about like hardware—they cannot survive—and you will be disappointed because the roots and tops dry out. Our roses are taken from our storage; fresh packed by the latest improved methods and shipped you the same day.

Our roses are hardy, vigorous plants which for two years have been grown right out in the open fields. We do not handle "Bench roses" which are simply old rose plants discarded by florists after being forced in the greenhouse for two years or more. Nor do we handle the small, green, immature own-root plants which are started from small cuttings in the greenhouse in the Winter and sent out in the Spring. Both of these type roses can be sold very cheaply, but they positively are not as satisfactory as two year field-grown plants. Plant your roses early, just as soon as the ground is ready. The sooner you plant, the sooner they bloom.

Dwarf Fruit Trees

(Not Prepaid)

Propagated on special root stocks, dwarf Apples and Pears will begin to fruit within 2 or 3 years. Of bushy habit, they can be kept to a height of 10 to 12 feet and with a spread of 10 to 12 ft. they bear heavily in a few years. Dwarf trees bear exactly the same size fruits as tall standards and not infrequently the quality is superior. They are easily pruned and sprayed and for garden purposes are especially valuable.

The dwarf fruit tree is dwarf in tree size only, with fruit that is always as large and usually larger than the fruit grown on standard size trees. It has the added advantage of being really picked without the use of high ladders.

The dwarf fruit tree is especially adapted to the city or suburban home where large spreading standard size fruit trees are not adapted. Not only can these trees serve as useful trees, but are extremely decorative as well during the Spring blossoming period. They can be planted 15 feet apart, having a spread of 10 to 12 feet and every home has room for a group of these attractive fruit trees. Dwarf trees come into bearing early; in fact, many of these trees have borne fruit in our nursery.

IMPROVED DWARFING STOCKS

So far as we know, Maloney Brothers are the first in this country to offer fruit trees on the improved dwarfing root stock selected by the East Malling Research Station in England, and propagated and introduced by the New York State Experiment Station at Geneva, New York.

These root stocks are superior to the dwarf stocks used in the past because they are pure strains. The performance of varieties on these stocks can, therefore, be accurately forecast.

The most dwarfing stock in the group of Malling types is Malling IX, also known as Jaunne de Metz. A semi-dwarfing stock of good character is Malling I, also known as broadleafed English Paradise.

Sincerely yours,

H. B. Tukey, Chief in Research
